Our Mission

Our fundamental philosophy is to integrate evidence based research and clinical best practice with ancient Tantric and shamanic healing methods from around the world. We also provide leadership in innovative teaching and learning approaches.

Our practically based training is provided within the quality-training framework for Certified Awakening Within Relationship and Sexuality Coaching.

Our aim is to provide the industry and community with coaches who have reached a proven standard of professional excellence, compassion and integrity. We achieve this by providing training through a team of likeminded, highly skilled and creative professionals who are open to sharing their experience, passion and artistic expression.

Our team has the enthusiasm and motivation to continue to evolve. We stay ahead of market requirements by constantly seeking knowledge and wisdom. We thereby offer a valuable cycle of experiential learning for the benefit of learners, facilitators, the relationship and sexuality industry and the wider community.

Our education is more than just techniques – it inspires individual creative expression and personal growth.

Foundation

What is Awakening Within Relationship and Sexuality Coaching?

In a unique yearlong educational immersion followed by 6 months of ongoing mentoring, learn the art and skill of coaching receivers into a deeper and richer relationship with life—where openness, intimacy, sexuality, creativity, vitality, passion and love become the fundamental orientation to living.

Awakening Within Foundation coaching offers a new way to approach sexuality, relationships, and to being alive. Here, the emphasis is on being comfortable with feeling in each moment. Feeling more grounded in our bodies, more love in our relationships, and more vital and creative in our life. By reconnecting to our felt senses, we experience greater intuition and flow in our day-to-day experiences, as well as greater depth in our sexuality and intimacy.

At the heart of Awakening Within Foundation Coaching is practice: Learners and receivers have an opportunity for the direct experience of transforming their relationships and capacity for bliss states in the entire body. This becomes a gateway for discovery of what we want in life as a whole.

Awakening Within Foundation Coaching is an integration of cutting-edge coaching theory, Tantric and shamanic practices, with simple yet transformational relationship and sexuality philosophies. Awakening Within Coaching signifies the evolution of the relationship and sexuality field.

Innovative Facilitating and Teaching

Andrew Barnes, Founder of Awakening Within

Andrew Barnes' worldview encourages us beyond the usual ways of enhancing our life experience. He draws from his wide-ranging experiences, bringing a distinctive presence, clarity, and approach to a broad array of topics. In addition to more conceptual themes, he addresses daily issues: sexuality, relationships, love, communication, behavioural patterns, vocation and health. With sensitivity, he shares his insights with warmth and at times a sense of humour.

Andrew has a Master of Health Science (Sexual Health), five diplomas in different styles of bodywork and energy healing, 14 years of teaching and facilitating sexuality and bodywork courses, retreats and coaching sessions internationally. He is currently undertaking a PhD in Somatic and Spiritual Psychology and is the co-author of the book Heart of the Flower – the book of yonis.

However, he attributes his greatest learnings to a profound awakening at 22 years of age, his many life experiences, and the wisdom and guidance of the many mentors and teachers he has had from around the world over the past 18 years. These men and women have enriched his path, expanding and challenging him in immeasurable ways. Andrew now supports others to find their inner truth and experience dynamic transformation in their own lives.

Yvonne Lumsden

Yvonne Lumsden was raised in the wilds of Scotland by her farmer father and her mother, the village midwife, who inspired her holistic approach to health and wellbeing.

Yvonne is an Awakening Within Relationship and Sexuality Coach. She is also a traditional Reiki Master, teacher and practitioner from the Usui lineage, as well as a bodyworker and aromatherapist, and talented artist and photographer.

Yvonne has trained as a mental health nurse specialising in drug and alcohol counselling and has a Postgraduate Diploma in Addictive Behaviour. After being introduced to Reiki in 1994, Yvonne's love for the healing practice flourished. Her Reiki journey has since taken her around the world and continues unabated. She is also the co-author of the book Heart of the Flower – the book of yonis.

Leyolah Antara

Leyolah Antara has been connecting people to their sexual energy as an evolutionary, creative impulse for over 20 years. She has founded and developed a cutting edge ecstatic, tantric, shamanic practice called Kundalini Dance, which supports practitioners to self generate their sexual creative energy for personal awakening as well as teaching and developing Sacred Evolutionary Sexuality and Divine Feminine embodiment programmes for women. Her work is deeply transformative and supports the emergence of life changing shifts in consciousness and the fulfilment of a richer, more creatively inspired life.

Her work has taken her all over the world to teach retreats and workshops and she has trained over 70 Kundalini Dance Facilitators, in Australia and North America to initiate others into embodying their sexual creative energy, the kundalini shakti as a vehicle for awakening our higher creative potentials.

She has produced two interactive CD's and instructional booklets, teaching manuals and is currently completing her first book. "Tantric Shamanic Dance ~ Awakening the creative impulse"

A Vocation in Relationship and Sexuality Coaching

In the past several years, the sacred sexuality field has grown from an 'alternative' approach enjoyed by a few to a ever increasing and respected modality accepted by mainstream society. This incredible growth and popularity is seeing professionalization of the industry and, as a result, training has become increasingly scrutinised and subject to quality measures.

Our practically based courses teach a unique style of coaching approach and many dynamic styles of ancient bodywork and rituals that focus on the 'whole' person by taking a holistic approach that incorporates business principles and health science while emphasising the emotional, spiritual and intuitive aspects of life.

To be a successful Relationship and Sexuality Coach requires skills in many areas of practice. So therefore as a part of our training program we ensure that you will learn all of what is required so that you will be ready for any environment before you graduate. This ensures graduates will 'stand out in the crowd' as they are not just on a par with the average person that completes a few weekend workshops or a week long retreat, but that they are skilled and experienced in all of the areas of training that is required to practice in this specialised field.

Our training therefore finds balance through combining the very best of "modern knowledge and ancient wisdom". The program encourages learners to reflect on their own experiences and health to understand the impact their coaching can have on receivers physically, emotionally and energetically. As we have learnt from the many years of coaching during the past 14 years, this is a crucial step in making the leap from ordinary to extraordinary in offering people the very best treatment and opportunities for growth.

Andrew's life's teachers who have shared their wisdom, knowledge and gifts from the heart have been the inspiration for founding Awakening Within so that such heartfelt knowledge can be passed on to a new generation of relationship and sexuality coaches.

Real Life, Flexible Learning

As far as possible, we structure all learning so that it replicates real life conditions and to be above industry standards. This can be through the running of courses and retreats where you get 'hands-on' contact with receivers or through setting assessment tasks that allow you to apply the theory to situations that you might face in your own practice.

Awakening Within Foundation is proud of its teaching standards that are based on the principles of flexibility and accelerated learning. Life does not set exams, nor do we. We give you problems to solve, everyday tasks to perform and opportunities to practice skills so that you learn 'the language of the body'. It is this realism that accelerates your learning and gives you a foundation for adapting your skills to new environments and new situations.

Our programs are 'learner-centered' and as user-friendly as possible. The programs have been designed and written by Andrew Barnes. Many components of the program can be studied in your own environment and can be completed in time spans and sequences that fit in with the demands of your own life. However, this style of learning places a great deal of responsibility on the learner, which is why we provide support to help you 'learn to learn' and assistance to keep you 'on track'.

External study programs have been structured so that you learn effectively by building skills through sequenced learning strategies and learning threads. We teach you the 'how to' for the assessment tasks, as well as the 'what to' in model situations. For example, you will learn a set of skills in one module and apply them to different work situations in another. We have endeavoured to make our learning as relevant and effective as possible.

Awakening Within understands that we all lead busy lives and that we need to value our time and resources with great care. We are committed to the concept of creating a flexible learning environment where students can maximise their time and energy in the most efficient way. For this reason we have developed our courses so that all the theory components can be studied in the comfort of your own home, anywhere, anytime in Australia or from around the world.

The Awakening Within Foundation practical training has been developed to be as efficient as possible, so we run our practical training by what we call intensive experiential training. Experiential training develops your skills quickly and gives you direct experience of working with receivers in real life conditions. Training is run throughout the year so you can plan your attendance to suit your needs. Learners will also be kept informed of any special training opportunities intensives and seminars that may be held from time to time.
