About us

Heart Centre for Children

"World leaders in cardiac care, with children and families at the heart of all we do."

The Heart Centre for Children at the Sydney Children's Hospitals Network provides complex care to critically ill babies and children with heart disease. Over 100 staff work together to diagnose and treat more than 4500 babies, children and adolescents with congenital heart disease each year. As the largest centre for childhood onset heart disease in NSW, we provide clinical care for complex procedures and run a world-class research programme. The Heart Centre for Children is dedicated to "beating heart disease in kids" and embraces the vision of "World leaders in cardiac care, with children and families at the heart of all we do". All our staff are dedicated to improving our ability to diagnose, treat, and cure children with heart disease, now and into the future.

By supporting us, you are directly improving the treatments for kids, their families and the community.

Kids Heart Research

"To inspire, lead, and facilitate high-quality research into childhood heart disease."

Kids Heart Research, based at the Heart Centre for Children, facilitates research into childhood heart disease, including clinical, genetic, and psychosocial research. The close association between the cardiac clinical and research teams enables our research findings to be translated immediately into improvements in clinical care and innovations to support patients and their families.

We make a difference by translating discovery into the care of children and their families with alleviation and amelioration of life-threatening or debilitating heart disease. Our focus is not only to optimise survival but to maximise any child's potential, no matter what social or genetic background, no matter how remote or disadvantaged.

Sydney Children's Hospitals Network

"... to help young people live their healthiest lives."

The Sydney Children's Hospitals Network incorporates Sydney Children's Hospital, Randwick, The Children's Hospital at Westmead, Bear Cottage, the Newborn and Paediatric Emergency Transport Service (NETS), Kids Research, and other vital children's services.

Every year, more than 180,000 sick and injured children receive care from the Sydney Children's Hospitals Network. Young patients come from across New South Wales, and even from outside the State and across the Pacific Rim, if they need access to specialist expertise which is only available at our Hospitals.

Sydney Children's Hospitals Foundation

"... every child, now and in the future, can access extraordinary healthcare whenever they need it."

Sydney Children's Hospitals Foundation has a vision to ensure that every child, now and in the future, can access extraordinary healthcare whenever they need it. With help from our incredibly generous donors and supporters, we fund state-of-the-art equipment, the best and brightest clinicians and practitioners, and cutting-edge research and clinical trials. We also know that delivering extraordinary healthcare extends beyond the medical. It means doing everything we can to give sick kids a positive experience. It's about finding ways to make life easier for families, creating a total healing environment, and bringing smiles to their faces in the most difficult times.
