Welcome

Whenever you choose to visit Moree Plains Shire, there will always be a warm welcome waiting for you.

Sitting atop the Great Artesian Basin, the Moree Plains is located just below the Queensland border on wide, black-soil plains threaded with a tapestry of rivers, creeks, billabongs and wetlands. As a major national agricultural centre, Moree Plains Shire is doubly blessed by Mother Nature, with earth-born mineral spas earning our region recognition as "Australia's Artesian Spa Capital". Business, agriculture, history and culture provide a dynamic foundation for the network of towns and villages in the Shire with each location displaying a unique community and character.

Why not start your day with a rejuvenating dip in our Artesian spa pools while you contemplate which adventure to go on next? Perhaps you'd like to take in the history of the town on a Guided History Tour, explore the historic buildings in the CBD or browse in the local art galleries as you do a little shopping at the many boutique stores. When it's time for a break, we've got you covered with a variety of excellent cafes and restaurants. A walk through one of the lovely green parks, some of which are bordered by the Mehi River, is a great refresher any day of the year.

Perhaps you're keen to learn more about the agriculture of the area with one of our seasonal Agri-Tours? You can discover how to grow a pair of jeans, wander through the largest commercial pecan nut farm in the Southern Hemisphere or visit an olive grove or our first winery. It's all here on your doorstep.

Long before our region was known as Moree Plains Shire, the Kamilaroi people called this place home. With a history stretching back over 40,000 years, the proud culture of the Indigenous custodians will enlighten and fascinate you when you visit the Dhiyaan Aboriginal Centre in the CBD.

There are so many fabulous aspects to the Moree Plains Shire but the best of all is the people. Generous, community minded, laid-back, hard working with huge hearts, the people of Moree Plains will welcome you to be part of their community, enjoying the best of country living whether you're passing through, visiting or relocating.

Mayoral Welcome

As Mayor of Moree Plains Shire, I would like to introduce you to our thriving Shire that is enriched with artesian water, black soil plains and a community whose culture is as vast as the opportunities our land brings.

I welcome you as a tourist to enjoy a restful vacation; as a conference delegate experiencing new developments; as a business person investing in our community and as an individual or family member looking to make the “plains change”.

The Moree Plains has much to offer as a diverse and sustainable community. With a vibrant and unique tourism offering and an exceptional reputation as the most productive agricultural shire in Australia, the Moree Plains exceeds expectations for opportunities in industry, education, employment, community cohesion and family-friendly lifestyles.

Our rich black soil and an abundance of artesian water sets the scene for an economy with worldwide appeal. Our agribusiness is booming in high seasonal produce including cotton, durum wheat, pecan nuts, chickpeas, legumes, olives/oil and livestock. The construction of the Melbourne to Brisbane Inland Rail is expected to increase network capacity for our farmers and the Moree Solar Farm displays our sustainable thinking and ability to profit from the resources of our natural environment.

As a tourist, I invite you to enjoy our treasured Moree Artesian Aquatic Centre, the newly opened Moree Water Park (a recreational and environmental achievement in itself), tours of our local heritage and the pecan nut farm (the largest in the southern hemisphere), and experience the many highlights of the social calendar such as the picnic races, celebrations of local produce, golf tournaments, monthly markets and various multicultural festivals.

If retail is your cup of tea, our local boutiques and department stores combined with alfresco café dining and restaurants are sure to cater to your desires.

As the ancestral home to the Indigenous Kamilaroi tribe, Moree has always shown great pride in our Aboriginal heritage with a history steeped in customs and traditions. Boasting the first Indigenous unit in Australia, the Dhiyaan Aboriginal Centre showcases the extensive history of the Kamilaroi people in the Moree Plains Shire. It is this progressive thinking that continues to inspire our Indigenous youth and allows for a greater understanding and appreciation of our native heritage.

Come join us in the Moree Plains, you'll discover a wonderful community in a unique rural setting bustling with opportunities.

Cr Katrina Humphries, Mayor

YAAMA

YAAMA- Hello!!! Kamilaroi Culture Gamilaroi- Gomerai

The Kamilaroi are the second largest nation on the eastern coast of Australia, with Wiradjuri being the largest. Their nation covers 30,000 square miles of fertile soil, running rivers and streams. Their language is Gamilaraay and their lifestyle is to co-exist with, and maintain a balance with nature. Kamilaroi Aboriginal people lived in harmony with the environment.

The Kamilaroi believe in a large number of supernatural beings. Among them, the most important are: Baiame, Dharramulan and Garriya. Baiame, pronounced BYE-umme, is believed to have the greatest of Powers. Dharramulan is the one-legged son of Baiame. Legend says that Garriya, the Rainbow Serpent, a fabulous monster which appeared in a snake-like form, is now believed to be resting deep within Boobera Lagoon, 13.5km west of Boggabilla, NSW.

The Kamilaroi used kinship norms to regulate the behaviour of all people who had dealings with one another. This system of classes or skins governed everyday behaviour including marriage, ceremonies, camp layout, hunting parties and so forth. It brought with it a set of obligations that were performed when relating to others, and these obligations formed part of Aboriginal Lore/Law.

Totems handed down through the mother's line differentiate people into groups, for example ringtail possum (kurrawir), porcupine (bigibila), pademelon or wallaby (wang-uy), brown kangaroo (bundar), and so on. Totemism expanded across tribes, and a person with the same totem's are regarded as kin, regardless of what clan they belong to. A person's not allowed to marry their own totem, no matter how distant the connection.

The smaller clans mostly stayed within their own hunting area (taurai) but there were times when neighbouring groups came together for purposes such as settling disputes, marriages, trading, festivals, feasts, funerals and for help in bad times.

Messengers carrying message sticks (dhulu) were allowed to enter other sub-tribe's and tribe's lands to communicate with each group and would often let other tribes know where and when a ceremony would be held. A special, significant and respected ceremony known as the Bora (buurra) initiated boys into manhood. Other ceremonies that have religious connotations or are simply attended for entertainment are known as 'corroborees'.

Today, descendants of the traditional people of the Kamilaroi Nation continue to occupy these lands. They are known as 'Murri' people.

Enquire with the team at the Dhiiyaan Aboriginal Centre and Tourism Moree for information on our local Indigenous Arts, Art Galleries & local Significant Sites including Berrigal Creek, Boobera Lagoon, Northcote Bora Ring, Myall Creek Memorial & Terry Hie Hie Aboriginal Area (please check before entering these sites & please do not touch or remove any items or artefacts out of respect).

Attractions

No matter what interests you, you'll find plenty to see and do in Moree and the surrounding districts. No visit to Moree would be complete without a refreshing dip in the mineral-laden Artesian waters of our pools. Whether you're on a solo adventure, a family holiday or travelling in a group, we can offer the ideal experience in the Moree Plains.

Indulge in the local culture and heritage with an array of beautiful galleries and centres to entice and enlighten. Why not enjoy a wonderful Heritage Walk which allows you to experience the splendour of the bygone Art Deco era. The nationally recognised Dhiyaan Aboriginal Centre is a must for anyone wishing to discover more about the local, ancient Aboriginal history and culture of the area. The Kamilaroi people have an incredible past filled with triumph and tragedy and, as the oldest culture in the world, have so much to share.

Perhaps you're in need of some retail therapy? Moree features many lovely boutique shops showcasing everything from homewares to fashion, books to children's toys and everything in-between. Our CBD offers ample parking and the close proximity of the various retail establishments and cafes makes for a relaxing day whilst window shopping and indulging in some special purchases.

You may like to take a wander through the calming greenery of one of our centrally located parks, always a welcome respite on a warm day or a great way to round off a brisk winter's day. The Mehi River meanders its 'lazy way through the town offering ample fishing spots and abundant bird life for the nature lovers. The natural waterways have also been enhanced with the Moree Water Park located on the outskirts of the Moree township.

Agriculture is the heart of the Moree Plains Shire so why not experience our farming first-hand on one of our seasonal Agri-Tours. See the largest pecan farm in the Southern Hemisphere or learn the intricacies of growing and ginning cotton at one of the state-of-the-art farms. Learn more about how the wheat is produced for your daily bread or how the olive oil you use is grown & processed ready for your dinner table. A visit to our local boutique vineyard in a must! Agriculture is a constantly evolving, innovative industry and has long been a cornerstone of Australia's success. Come and see for yourself how our farmers are leading the world.

Moree Artesian Aquatic Centre

Do as little or as much as you like at the Moree Artesian Aquatic Centre (MAAC), Moree's major tourist attraction – home of the Artesian Water, FINA Standard Olympic Pool, Commercial Gym, 10m high Waterslide and Children's Waterpark. Or Take the time to relax, re-energise and recuperate at the newly developed Moree Artesian Wellness & Day Spa.

We all know that soaking in our Artesian pools leaves you feeling amazing - ever wondered why?

There is a growing bank of research evidence backing up the century old health claims associated with bathing in mineral waters - Balneology is the scientific study of the therapeutic benefits of naturally occurring mineral waters. In Australia, this science is not very well known, and is even less seldom practised.

Balneotherapy allows for the transdermal absorption of varied minerals such as sulphur and magnesium typically found in Artesian water. These minerals are said to nourish the organs of the body and in turn aid the body to fight illness and repair tissue damage.

It is of common belief that balneotherapy can help with many health conditions including arthritis, musculoskeletal pain and respiratory disorders.

Why not come and try it for yourself, the Centre is open daily, closing only on Christmas Day and the last week of July each year.

Moree Water Park

Being conscious of the need for water conservation, the Moree Water Park is filled using the spent Artesian water from the Moree Artesian Aquatic Centre. Moree Water Park is an International and Australian Standard water ski park, located in the Evergreen Precinct, 8km south of Moree. Currently, the Moree Water Park operates with two 850 metre long ski lakes. A circuit lake measuring 1.2km long by 200 metres wide and designed for a wide range of water sports is proposed to open in the 2017-2018 summer. Moree Water Park is currently available by appointment. For more information please visit the Moree Water Ski Club's website <https://moreewaterskiclub.wordpress.com/> or Facebook page <https://www.facebook.com/waterskimoree/>.

When fishing in NSW waters, both freshwater and saltwater, you are required by law to pay the NSW Recreational Fishing Fee and carry a receipt showing the payment of the fee. This applies when spear fishing, hand lining, hand gathering, trapping, bait collecting and prawn netting or when in possession of fishing gear in, on or adjacent to waters. Check before fishing as Bag limits apply. IMPORTANT NOTE: Certain species may also be 'Out of Season' meaning they are not allowed to be kept during certain times of the year.

Towns & Villages

Moree Plains Shire Towns & Villages

It's often challenging for visitors to comprehend just how big the Moree Plains Shire is as it covers an enormous 17,928 square km. To put that into perspective, our Shire is approximately the same size as the country of Kuwait or the entire nation of Fiji. This really is Big Sky Country!

With Moree as the hub, satellite villages sprang up around the Shire to the north, south, east and west, often located a day or half-day horse ride away from the main town so the white settlers could avail themselves of Moree's blossoming facilities. Today, these small communities thrive with active, successful and enthusiastic businesses, committees, clubs and groups organising annual events, raising funds for local projects and helping each other out in tough times.

Why not take a leisurely drive into the countryside and discover these little gems. The locals are sure to give you a warm welcome.

Boomi

The charming village of Boomi, established in 1897 and lying 93 kms from Moree, grew from the discovery of a significant underground water source on the crown land in the nearby tiny village of Kunopia. Between 1897 and 1903 further exploration led to the sinking of the Boomi bore which, at an impressive depth of 1,526.5 metres or 1.5 kilometres, guaranteed 2,839,058 litres or 2.84 megalitres of fresh, clean drinking water every 24 hours. With this imperative find, Boomi grew rapidly whilst Kunopia ceased to be. To service the burgeoning properties, 112 miles or 180 kms of bore drainage was trenched through the district allowing farmers and their stock access to much needed, reliable water.

At its height, Boomi boasted a school, three shops, two butcheries, two pubs, a bakery and other businesses along with various community and sporting facilities. Although rural life is wonderful, farming is a tough game with the vagaries of the Australian weather making every decision a gamble. As Australia transitioned to greater mechanisation in all areas of farming, fewer workers were required on farm causing a flow of rural workers from the small villages to larger rural centres or to the big cities. Boomi is a dynamic and important location with a community that has a reputation for getting things done. A must see event is the biennial Boomi Amateur Thespian Society production where local talents come together to produce an evening of entertainment & theatrical performances, attracting an audience from near & far... Agriculture is still the mainstay of the community with nearby Koramba Farm & Cotton Gin providing employment for many locals.

When you stay in Boomi you can enjoy a dip in the Hot Artesian Spa Pool which features powerful overhead jets and underwater jets, the perfect remedy for tired and aching muscles. Luxuriate in the mineral-rich water which flows, under natural pressure, from a depth of 1.25km and arrives at the surface at an astounding 53°C straight from the Great Artesian Basin. The water is then cooled to a comfortable 39°C for use in the Hot Spa. There's also a 25m cool pool to splash in on those hot summer days and for your safety, a lifeguard on duty at all times. There are a variety of facilities at the complex including tennis courts, picnic and BBQ areas, plus shower and toilet amenities. The camping ground is conveniently located right next door.

If camping is not for you, don't despair! The Pioneer Hotel has you covered with accommodation, counter meals and a lovely cool drink or two. A favourite spot of the locals, there's always someone ready for a yarn and a laugh at the Pioneer Hotel where country hospitality awaits you on your journey.

Mungindi

It is a simple fact that Mungindi is unique! Straddling the Barwon River, Mungindi is called by one name but located in two states, NSW and QLD and is the only border town in the Southern Hemisphere sharing the same name in both states. Sitting atop the Carnarvon Highway which links Melbourne with Darwin, Mungindi is the connecting point of four Shires being Moree Plains NSW, Walgett NSW, St George QLD and Goondiwindi QLD. The landscape between Moree and Mungindi is starkly beautiful and as you travel you may encounter all manner of Australian native wildlife including emus, kangaroos, wallabies, echidnas, galahs, cockatoos, water birds, goannas and other reptiles.

With a population of approximately 700 people, the district produces wheat, cotton, sheep and beef cattle for local, national and international markets. Mungindi's CBD is located in NSW, but uniquely there are two Police stations, one in each state. The Schools, with the exception of the Community Pre-School, are in NSW while the Hospital is situated on the Queensland side. It may sound confusing but life in this fabulous little town is simplicity itself.

This positive, vibrant community has played host to world-class events and festivals brought about through the enormous energy and commitment of the willing locals and the Arts are alive and well in Mungindi with numerous committees, clubs and organisations nurturing the creativity of the district. Dedicated to supporting local projects and people, Mungindi's CWA, RSL, Historical Society, St Vincent de Paul Society, Meals on Wheels and Progress Association ensure that the entire community is well cared for.

Sporting activities too numerous to mention are part of the fabric of the village with something for every age and stage of life. If you like some thrills and spills, make sure you head along to the Mungindi Mud Trials. In their "mudbombs", adventurous souls take on the thick, slippery, boggy, black mud on a specially contrived racecourse. "Mudbombs" are vehicles specifically engineered to cope with the extraordinary conditions and win the race. If you're feeling brave, you can even enter the Mungindi Mud Footrace and try your luck sprinting to the finish line through the quagmire!

While in Mungindi, be sure to "take the waters" relaxing in the hot Artesian spa at the local pool complex. Allow the soothing, mineral water to rejuvenate your body in tranquil surroundings before heading out for a meal at one of the town's clubs or hotels. After a busy day, you can then turn in for the night in your choice of accommodation from camping on the riverbank or in the caravan park to motel-style rooms.

Mungindi History

History buffs will find much to interest them about this fascinating region. In the early days of white settlement, Sir Thomas Mitchell was sent by the government in search of an inland river with the prospect of opening up further farming and grazing land for the increasing numbers of keen pioneers. During Mitchell's first visit in 1831, he stumbled across a river now known as the Barwon River and when Mitchell returned again in 1846, he recorded that at least one settler was already occupying and farming the land. The local Indigenous people had long taken advantage of the reliable waterholes, abundant wildlife and shaded flats of the riverbanks in the area. White settlers soon realised their wisdom and by the 1850s, increasing areas of farming and grazing land were being developed and introduced stock a familiar sight. The name Mungindi almost certainly came from a Kamilaroi word meaning "the place where sweet water might be found by digging". By 1863, Mungindi town was being established with the first hotel the "Mungindi Inn" being built by Scotsman Alexander Grant Walker.

Following two arduous years of surveying, Mr. John Cameron erected what is believed to be the largest survey peg in Australia, the One Ton Post. The Post marks the completion of surveying the 29th parallel which forms the current border between NSW and QLD. By the 1880s, Mungindi was booming with regular coach services a reality and the opening of a telegraphic office in 1881. The dawning of a new century saw a town of some 250 residents relishing life in a community which boasted its own newspaper, hospital, schools, two post offices, brewery, four hotels, two police stations, a sawmill, bakery and butchery plus professional and trade services. Although the town has changed over the years, Mungindi is still a town on the move thanks to the amazing community.

Mungindi Hot Pool

Rest and rejuvenate in an ambience created by nature at Mungindi's artesian mineral pool.

Surrounded by soothing mineral-rich water, feel the luxury of the constant-flowing, naturally-filtered water as you sit back and enjoy this tranquil environment.

Mungindi is uniquely straddling the New South Wales and Queensland border. Located 120km north west of Moree on the Carnarvon Highway.

Ashley

The closest village to Moree is the hamlet of Ashley, a mere 18km north/north-west of Moree along the Carnarvon Highway. Surrounded by cotton and general farming, Ashley is home to two cotton gins, the Auscott "Midkin" Gin and the Namoi Cotton Gin. Auscott Pty Ltd also produces cotton, wheat, cereals and legumes on their farm. The Ashley Community Hall, Midkin Park and Playground are a vital meeting place for the locals where the children can play and families can celebrate with a party, picnic or just enjoy a cool drink together. Located in the centre of the village, next to the Fire Station, there are also BBQ facilities available for public use.

Boggabilla

Home to the famous "Wobbly Boot" Hotel, Boggabilla lies just below the Queensland border, 13km south of Goondiwindi and 115km north of Moree on the Newell Highway. With a population of approximately 650 people, 58% of residents identify as Indigenous being part of the Kamilaroi tribe of the Plains. The name Boggabilla is derived from the Gamilaraay language and literally means "full of creeks". The rich, fertile soil is ideally suited to agriculture with cotton, broadacre crops, sheep and beef cattle being the primary industries. Many locals find employment through agriculture in the area whilst other residents commute to Goondiwindi for work.

When you travel to Boggabilla, a must-see is the Euraba Artists & Papermakers Gallery, situated in the town. Indigenous artists specialise in handmade paper art created from 100% cotton off-cuts from the local clothing industry. From these off-cuts, the artists produce cotton rag pulp for their unique, handmade paper. Euraba means "place of healing" in the Gamilaraay language and the Indigenous artists embrace the healing role art can play in the life of their community and for the wider world. Euraba Artists produce a beautiful range of giftware including handmade paper, stationary sets, artist packs and miniature artworks. The enterprise is entirely owned and operated by the Indigenous people of Boggabilla and nearby Toomelah.

Garah

In the heart of beautiful agricultural land, the inviting village of Garah lies 50km from Moree as you travel north along the Carnarvon Highway. Surrounded by cropping & livestock properties the Garah district is home to around 300 people who mostly make their living from the land. The Club Hotel is a great place to catch up on all the latest local news and learn a little more about the area. It's a go-ahead village with both the Country Women's Association and the Garah Progress Association organising events, projects and fundraisers for the community.

One of the main events on Garah's calendar is the Talmoi Picnic Races which is usually held in June and is the final leg in the Golden Triangle Picnic Races. The race meeting, reputedly one of the oldest and longest running picnic races in Australia having first been held in 1911, is a fabulous day of racing, socialising and fashions in the field. You simply must go if you're in the area in June.

There are a number of facilities available in Garah including the Club Hotel, general store, police station, public primary school, post office, petrol depot, public hall, CWA Hall, two churches plus a mechanic to assist you with any car or truck troubles. Make sure you call in and enjoy the hospitality of the amicable locals.

Gurley

Positioned 35km south of Moree on the Newell Highway, Gurley is a small but busy village with a population of around 200 people including nearby farms. The Gurley Siding Railway Station was first opened in 1897 followed by the Gurley Siding Post Office in 1898. As the hamlet grew in stature, the name was changed to Gurley in 1917. Although the Railway Station has been closed for some time, the rail line is still used daily transporting travellers between Moree and Sydney as well as providing an essential transport for agricultural produce. The Gurley Post Office, now housed in the offices of Tramby & Hanks Stock & Station Agents, is still operating providing the locals with vital access to the wider world.

Essentially an agricultural area, Gurley is a hub for the rural families living close by. Enthusiastic locals regularly gather in the refurbished RSL Hall, beside the floodlit tennis courts, to celebrate community events or plan upcoming ones. During the September/October school holidays, the Gurley Pony Club hosts the highly - anticipated pony camp where young riders hone their skills under the watchful eyes of expert tutors. The Gurley Tennis Club, Gurley Fire Brigade and Progress Association together with community members are keen to continue the good work in providing a wonderful environment for residents and travellers alike. If you're travelling through Gurley, you can fill up at the petrol station and grab a snack or a much-needed grocery item from the friendly staff. If you'd like a chinwag with a local, why not call in to the Royal Hotel? There's more fantastic Plains hospitality waiting for you in Gurley.

Pallamallawa

Pallamallawa (Pal-ah-mal-ah-war) is an energetic village, located approximately 35km from Moree, with much to offer anyone looking for the idyllic country life. Affectionately called Pally by the locals, the name is derived from the Kamilaroi word for “Dry Waterhole”. The current settlement rests quite close to the banks of the Gwydir River which, in times of drought, is reduced to a series of shallow, sometimes dry, waterholes but when heavy rains fall, the rapidly rising water bursts the banks flooding the surrounding farmland and enriching the soil. Surrounded by cotton, wheat, livestock and broadacre farms, Pally is also home to the largest pecan farm in the Southern Hemisphere, “Trawalla” which is an Australian owned and operated farm & company.

In the village proper lies the newly developed granite War Memorial which honours the Pallamallawa residents who have served in conflicts including the Boer War, World War I, World War II and Vietnam. The War Memorial was dedicated on 25 April 2015, the Centenary of the Gallipoli landings. Not only will the memorial serve as a focal point for future ceremonies, it also records the history of Pallamallawa’s local service men and women for future generations.

An exciting array of sporting activities occupy Pally’s annual calendar with Polo Crosse, Campdraft, Team Penning and Arena Sorting competitions for those interested in horse sports. Perhaps you’d enjoy a casual game of tennis at the local courts or you could drop a line into the Gwydir in search of a Perch or Murray Cod. Alluring, leafy camping opportunities abound along the river so you can relax and recharge in the quiet of the Aussie bush. After a day of fishing, call in to the Golden Grain Hotel Motel & Caravan Park for a delicious meal and a “coldie”.

Parks & Gardens

Moree Plains Shire is home to an array of lovely parks and beautiful gardens each providing a welcoming oasis for travellers and residents alike. Towering eucalypts, majestic purple jacarandas, stately Moreton Bay figs and burnished-orange Silky Oaks dot the lush green grass of our parks and line our wide streets. Follow the sleepy Mehi River as it serpentine its way through Moree township and you'll also discover gorgeous areas of natural beauty alive with the sounds and colours of magnificent native birds.

Welcome Totems

Greeting you as you travel into Moree from Queensland are the Welcome Totems representing the four totems of this area – Crow, Pelican, Goanna and Yellow Belly. Yaama (welcome) to the home of the Kamilaroi people.

Anzac Centenary Park

The most recent addition to grace the Moree landscape is the Anzac Centenary Park which borders the Moree Bypass. Opening in 2015, Anzac Centenary Park is located in an area of historical significance and as you take a stroll, you will discover plaques explaining the history of the area including the Victoria Hotel, Moree Artesian Aquatic Centre, Moree Train Station, Moree Station Weigh Bridge and the Tennis Club. Anzac Centenary Park was established to honour the memory of local people who served Australia & the British Empire in WWI. As the war began, rural men rallied to the call of King & Country gathering in the local towns to enlist. Men from this region were called the Kurrajongs after trees native to this area. Kurrajong trees are now planted in the park to symbolise the enormous contribution and sacrifice rural families made in defence of their country. When they enlisted, troops marched from the town centre to the Victoria Hotel and waited there before they departed from the Moree Railway Station as they journeyed to join the conflict and when soldiers returned, they followed the same route but for some, the return journey was not to be.

The centrepiece of the park, 12 plinths in staggered formation representing the trenches in which the soldiers lived, fought and died, bear 206 names of those men and women who fell in battle, died as a result of wounds received or succumbed to illness whilst serving as soldiers and nurses. Many of those listed on the plinths have no other known grave so this memorial serves as their last resting place. Where possible, names have been grouped according to the place of death symbolising mateship and loyalty of these men and women. Totem posts, depicting regional fauna including Yellow Belly, Platypus, Brolga, Emu, Echidna and Koala, honour of the local Kamilaroi people, many of whom served, and take pride of place along with flag poles bearing the Australian and New Zealand flags. It is hoped to further develop the park to honour those who have served in WWII.

Mary Brand Park

Nestled in a gentle curve of the Mehi River, Mary Brand Park is an historically significant spot as it was the location of the second general store in the Moree District, owned and operated by a dynamic pioneering woman, Mary Brand. As well as owning the store, Mary ran the Post Office and owned the local hotel, the Moree Inn, all exceptional achievements for a woman in rural Australia in the 1800s. You can reflect on this fascinating history as you listen to the bird song and rest under the gracious canopies of the century-old Moreton Bay fig trees.

Max Wales Memorial Park

Located on the banks of the Mehi beside the Moree Services Club, this park pays tribute to the memory of one of Moree's gallant sons, Max Wales. Max gave his life serving at the Battle of Long Tan, Vietnam. Eighteen roses are planted as a memorial to honour the eighteen brave young men who lost their lives in this notorious and heartbreaking battle. The Max Wales Memorial Park demonstrates the continuing pride of the Shire people as they remember the sacrifice made by rural men and women who have served their country in times of conflict.

Apex Park

Featuring a flying fox, a spring rider, swings, climbers, a mini rock wall and a double slippery slide, Apex Park is the ideal place for the kids to have fun and work off some pent-up energy. Soft fall ground cover cushions the landings and the entire playground is covered with a shade structure to shield children from the sun as they play. With safety in mind, the area has also been fully fenced so you can enjoy a lovely lunch at the free BBQs and covered tables knowing your children are safe from street traffic. Apex Park is located on the corner of Gwydir and Edward Streets in north Moree.

Jellicoe Park

Covering an extensive area in the central district of Moree, Jellicoe Park is bordered by the Mehi River. On the first Sunday of each month (excluding January), Jellicoe Park is a hive of activity as the Moree Markets flourish under the spreading branches of the magnificent eucalypts and jacarandas. Starting at 8am, the markets are a must. You never know what treasure you may find in this beautiful park. As you stroll through Jellicoe Park you will note the paved walkway, Goanna Walk designed by Tourism Moree staff member, Tian Harris. Follow the goanna footprints until, resting around the raised garden bed, you'll discover Goanna, curled up ready for a nap.

Kirkby Park

Affectionately known locally as the Rocket Park, Kirkby Park is home to our fabulous, colourful 14.9 metre tall play rocket which was "launched" on July 11th 2009 by world renowned astronomer, Fred Watson, then Astronomer-in-Charge at the Australian Astronomical Observatory based in Coonabarabran. The Big Rocket is an ideal place for the kids to play as you take a well-earned break from your travels. There is also play equipment specifically designed for those with disabilities. Dwarfed by the Big Rocket, the much-loved, original, steel-construction rocket from 1972 still stands in Kirkby Park. Originally commissioned to commemorate the Centenary of Education, the original rocket was decommissioned in the 1990s due to changes in safety provisions but still stands today as a testament to an earlier era. At the southern end of Kirkby Park, you will find the architecturally historic Moree Band Rotunda, a charming heritage-listed building which is still used to this day by the Moree & District Band Inc., one of the oldest continually-serving community bands in Australia having been established in 1885.

Moree Skate Park

Directly to the west from Kirkby Park lies the Moree Skate Park which has been purpose-built for the enjoyment of skaters and BMX riders of all ages and levels of ability. Equipment within the area includes a permanent concrete small bowl with flat banks, corner bowl, ramps and grind rails all on a concrete surface. Everyone using the Moree Skate Park is required to wear Australian Standards helmets and safety gear.

Lyle Houlahan Park

Located beside the Moree Visitor Information Centre on the banks of the Mehi River, Lyle Houlahan Park honours the dedication and community service of Lyle Houlahan, OAM who served as a local Councillor for 15 years. The park includes outdoor seating and BBQs, ideal for use by travellers and visitors.

A stone plinth dedicated to the memory of Private Max Wales, 6th R.A.R (of Moree) and his 17 comrades who fell at the Battle of Long Tan, Vietnam on August 18th, 1966 stands beside a 1914 Trench Mortar and a 1943 Australian Artillery 25 Pound Howitzer. Together, these serve to honour all who have served their country in times of conflict and peace.

Jacaranda Park

With expansive lawns and shady trees, Jacaranda Park makes an ideal area for all types of exercise from a gentle stroll to energetic activities. You'll often see a friendly game of footy or cricket underway on the broad greenery and under the covered shade structure, you'll find monkey bars, swings, a spring rider and climbers to keep the youngsters entertained. Located in Amaroo, a southern suburb of Moree, Jacaranda Park is accessed by Helensvale Avenue.

Moree Regional Botanical Gardens Inc.

The Moree Regional Botanical Gardens are gardens with a difference. Rather than being in one park-like location, this evolving garden lines the southern bank of the meandering Mehi River close to "Fairview", Moree's aged care facility and the Moree District Hospital. A vibrant mural inspired by the work of local Indigenous Elder and Artist, Margaret Adams, adorns the wall of the Old Visitor Centre further to the east. Still in the early stages of development, the Moree Regional Botanical Gardens will ultimately feature extensive mature local vegetation and traditional Carved Trees of the Kamilaroi people. Carved Trees are of particular significance to the local Indigenous people being both a record of their history and the embodiment of the Kamilaroi soul. In honour of the contribution of Indigenous Elder, Jim Stanley, the Jim Stanley Walk has been established as part of the gardens. Visitors can ramble along the banks of the Mehi on this leafy walk towards the Moree Visitor Information Centre.

Agriculture

From the 1840s, when the first white settlers arrived on our plains, agriculture has been the backbone of the district. Blessed with some of the world's richest black soil, the area soon became known as the Golden Wheatbelt for the huge crops of top quality seed produced here. As more pioneers arrived to try their luck in this wide brown landscape, communities grew and the need for reliable food supplies saw sheep and cattle farming take hold alongside grain production. Agriculture has diversified enormously since the early days, due in part to the droughts which sometimes affect Australia, and now encompasses a wide variety of crops and other agricultural developments.

Wheat & Broadacre Farming

Wheat has been part of the human diet for thousands of years with crops first being cultivated in 9600BC. Along with rice and maize/corn, wheat is one of the most heavily produced crops worldwide. Whilst we've only been growing wheat for a couple of centuries we certainly know how to grow the very best wheat with Moree Plains Shire contributing an average of one million tonnes of the golden grain with an estimated value of $180 million for the local economy.

Considered a winter crop, wheat is planted from late autumn through to early winter with lower soil temperatures suiting the germination and growth of a bumper crop. Harvest commences in November and varies in length depending, as always, on the weather. It is imperative to harvest the ripe grain as quickly as possible when the weather is fine as rain will cause a drop in the quality of the seed by lowering the protein levels.

Once harvested on the farm, the grain is transported by truck to nearby grain terminals where the quality of the wheat is determined. From here, the wheat can be exported overseas through the seaports or distributed to Australian mills for national consumption. That loaf of bread on your table takes approximately 9 months from planting to consumption with long hours of hard toil involved for farmers and their families who often work around the clock for days on end at harvest time.

Over time, the types of broadacre crops have evolved and increased to accommodate changing market tastes and to provide an alternative income for farmers given the demanding and quixotic nature of Australia's weather. The term "broadacre" simply describes a large area of land dedicated to the growth of one type of crop. Other broadacre crops include oil seeds such as canola, safflower and sunflower, cereal crops such as barley, oats and sorghum plus legume or pulse crops such as fava beans, mung beans and chickpeas. At different times of the year, the wide plains of the Moree district are a natural tapestry as the beautiful differing colours of the bounteous crops flood the land.

Cotton

Would you like to know what goes into producing a successful cotton crop? We can show you exactly what it takes to grow a pair of jeans! Since the mid-1970s, the Moree district has made a significant contribution to Australia's cotton production with top quality yields for use nationally and internationally.

Planting occurs in October dependant on the soil temperature which must be 15°C or above for successful germination and prevention of sub-soil disease. Cotton can be grown as a dryland crop which relies solely on natural rainfall or can be irrigated using regular, stored water-flows to ensure a robust, heavy-bearing crop. The development of pest resistant plant strains has resulted in a significantly reduced use of chemicals throughout the plant's life cycle. The industry continually strives to lift production standards while being conscious of sustainability, caring for our natural resources and treading gently on the earth.

Harvest can commence as early as March in the next calendar year and go through to the end of July depending on the climatic conditions. The composition of cotton is approximately 40% fibre, 50% seed and 10% trash (leaf & stem material). Once the cotton is picked by special machinery, it is formed into modules. The traditional, rectangular cotton modules are gradually being phased out in favour of the more compact and efficient round modules which you can observe resting in the local paddocks, tightly wrapped in bright covers ready for transportation to the cotton gins. Once in the gin, the seed, leaves and any other debris are separated from the cotton fibre with the fibre being pressed into bales each weighing 227kg approximately. The bales are then shipped overseas for spinning into thread and cloth. The cotton seed is utilised in a number of ways with some being processed for planting, some being crushed for high quality oil for cooking & cosmetic products whilst the crushed husks form a nutritious stock feed. The trash is left to decompose forming a wonderful cotton mulch and low grade fertiliser much sought after by gardeners.

Pecans

Ninety thousand (90,000) magnificent, mature pecan trees cover the 700 hectare property "Trawalla", the largest commercial pecan farm in the Southern Hemisphere, located 35km east of Moree on the Gwydir Highway. "Trawalla", which leads the world in pecan quality, was established by the Stahmann Family in the 1960s and now produces 95% of Australia's pecan crop.

The climate is perfectly suited to pecan trees, creating low pest pressure and near-perfect growing conditions. Autumn sees the lush, green canopy turn yellow and orange as the deciduous trees begin to drop their leaves as the nut hardens and fills with nutritious flesh and oil ready for harvest in May. Nuts are removed from the trees by a mobile, mechanical shaker and collected from the ground by mechanical harvesters. The nuts are de-husked on farm before being transported for storage and shelling as required.

Guided tours of "Trawalla" can be booked through the friendly staff at the Moree Visitor Information Centre.

Livestock

Sheep and cattle have populated the Moree Plains since the first white settlers arrived. Initially, only a small number of stock were kept to service the individual family's needs but it was soon realised this was an ideal environment in which to raise much larger mobs and herds. Like much of rural Australia, Moree "rode on the sheep's back" until the 1940s with large farms dedicated to the production of wool. Cattle for the meat trade still has a strong presence in the district with fodder from our rich black soils providing good pastures most years. Livestock farming is "hard yakka" with the animals requiring the best of care year-round to provide the top-quality product demanded by consumers. Luckily our tireless farmers are up to the job and proud of their industry.

Olives

With our wonderful Mediterranean-style climate, olives have found a strong place in the agricultural landscape of Moree and district. A slower growing crop, olive trees take five years to mature and produce fruit ready for harvesting from February to April. Numerous products are derived from the crop including Extra Virgin Olive Oil and Flavour Infused Oils, Table Olives, Olive Pate and Soaps.

Gwydir Grove, which has become an Australian icon, is Moree's largest, locally-owned and operated olive producer. Starting from humble beginnings, Gwydir Grove produced a mere 35 litres of oil in 1996 using a second-hand press. The harvest is now taken from 85,000 mature trees and produces an average of 180,000 litres of multi-award winning oil. The Gwydir Grove olive products are complemented by their superb aged Balsamic Vinegar. These fabulous products are available from Moree Visitor Information Centre.

Solar Farming

One commodity Moree Plains Shire has in abundance is sunshine. With the upsurge in renewable energy it is only natural that Moree, with its perfect location and climate, caught the eye of the Solar Energy Industry. Known locally as "Big Sky Country", and taking its name from a Kamilaroi word meaning "Rising Sun", Moree was chosen from over 50 locations across Australia as the best location for farming sunshine due to many factors including intense levels of solar radiation experienced in the area, the large amount of flat land available and Moree's good transport links. The site's proximity to the strong transmission infrastructure of the national electricity grid allows for connectivity whilst also minimising the impact on the natural environment. The Moree Solar Farm is located 10km south of the town. With the capacity to generate enough electricity to supply around 24,000 homes, Moree Solar Farm is an exciting development for our rural community. Another big winner due to this project is the environment with an annual reduction of an estimated 95,000 tonnes of CO2 plus saving 165,000 megalitres of clean drinking water compared to a coal-fired power station.
