Br. Harry grew up in Post-World War I Australia, which prepared him to enter the life of the Brothers. He joined the novitiate in Sydney at the age of 18. After teaching for eight years in Australia, he would find himself in Malaysia. There, he would spend the next 37 years of his life educating young people, retiring just before his 65th birthday. Still restless at that age, he would continue his teaching vocation in the Philippines until 2012.

Beyond being an excellent teacher and administrator, his ability to capture the hearts of his students and fellow teachers was immense—his students from Malaysia would continue to visit him in the Philippines. His passion for life was contagious and, for this, he was loved by everyone. His extraordinary life served as his final lesson: live humbly, love generously, and treat each day as a precious gift from God.
