

WORD ON THE STREET

from those you may know...

If you could go back in time, once, and change a single thing, what would it be and why?

“Allowing all folk to live freely, and on an equal footing as an earthly right, would be beautiful.”

Ian Browne

WRITER

To deny my silly self the application of wood glue to my mohawk in 88, would be superficial, while saving loved ones from imminent death would just vanish new life that came to birth in later days.

So, I guess if I could engage my inner timelord, then I would head back to Berlin, May 1933, where only one book would be burnt instead of thousands. That being Mein Kampf. To deny Adolf Hitler any sense of grandeur would be so very satisfying, on so many levels.

Allowing all folk to live freely, and on an equal footing as an earthly right, would be beautiful. This 'freedom run' through time, so very fulfilling.

“Nothing at all! History is knowledge.”

Peggy O'Neill

THE ARTS FACTORY LODGE MANAGER

Nothing at all! History is knowledge. The value of the past is the only clue we have to move forward. We are doomed if we repeat our mistakes...war, hatred, genocide, racism, greed, hunger, environmental neglect.

Otherwise, we can survive and repeat our triumphs...peace, love, procreation, music, art, joy, community, freedom. You cannot go back in time and change a single thing, but you can actively do everything in your power to change the future. Choose wisely.

“The birth of plastic in all it's useless and unnecessary forms”

Renee Love

TARGA CAFE/ RESTAURANT /BAR OWNER

The birth of plastic in all it's useless and unnecessary forms. It's hard to accept that as a first-world country, knowing where plastic ends up, that we still go to our local supermarket to be handed over an endless supply of land/oceanfill.

It's interesting to look around a room at objects that have a plastic component and wonder if that thing could exist or function without that component? and do we really need it anyway? P.S this white sign I'm holding is made from 100% compostible recycled cardboard right??.... or it will be next time!
