The powder spray gently cleans subgingival areas

Gentle on soft tissue

Separating powder and water during application prevents periodontal damage. Powder flow is directed in all directions to remove subgingival plaque.

Automatic spray force adjustment

Connecting the subgingival chamber automatically lowers the spray pressure to 20% of the supragingival level to guarantee safe operation during subgingival application.

Safe plastic nozzle

Because the nozzle tip is flexible, it can follow tooth contours and is easy to insert into pockets thereby minimising patient discomfort. The material is semi-transparent to help with visibility. The nozzle tips are sterile and individually packaged so they are ready to use.

Wide range of applications

Applications range from quick biofilm removal to cleaning around dental implants and periodontal pockets. With the nozzle tip removed, clinicians can remove plaque from subgingival pockets of up to 3 mm.

Biofilm removal inside periodontal pockets

Interdental and gingival margin plaque removal
