

Veterinary Specialist Services have many years of experience providing physiotherapy for pets.

Physiotherapy is widely recognised as being effective in the treatment and rehabilitation of soft tissue injuries, arthritis, neck and back pain and following fractures or surgery. Animal physiotherapists are qualified and registered human physiotherapists who have a special interest in treating similar conditions in animals.

The aim of physiotherapy is to aid the animals healing capacity by reducing pain and inflammation, improving joint range of motion and muscle strength thereby restoring movement, function and quality of life.
